Take a look at a modern home laundry...

TAKE ALL the "blue Mondays" out of your calendar . . . you're the boss and electricity is the laundress, when you do it the push-button way!

It takes plenty of hot water—and that's what you get, abundantly and automatically, with a modern electric water heater. (Remember, the hotter the water, the whiter the wash!)

Your automatic electric washer literally does everything! It washes, rinses, damp-dries . . . even cleans itself out. And an automatic electric dryer can complete the job, without you lugging heavy baskets outdoors or having to depend on the whims of the weather!

Modern rotary or flatplate ironers do a better job while you sit . . . flatwork, shirts, dresses . . . all beautifully done, with backaches and elbow-grease eliminated!

Of course it's electric . . . the modern home laundry!

BUSINESS

Every one of them is a bid for NEW BUSINESS in your community

The Norfolk and Western Railway is beginning its second year of consistent industrial development advertising. The job of this advertising is to present to American industrialists throughout the country the many advantages of the territory served by the N. & W. . . . the land where you live.

The story is told regularly in national publications read and studied by business executives . . . by men who are in position to create new business . . . expand established plants . . . and decide where factories are to be built.

New factories can mean added security and prosperity for the communities in this area — which the railroad advertises as The Land of Plenty. They mean more dollars for stores, for banks, for schools and churches, for your home . . . better living for everyone.

Planned advertising is a major factor, but is merely the first step in the job of "selling" our Land of Plenty to American businessmen. To help manufacturers in gathering and screening the facts about the territory, the railway offers, in confidence and without obligation, the services of its Industrial and Agricultural Department—an organization with almost 50 years of experience in successfully helping industry find good plant sites along N. & W. lines.

During the past year, the attention of hundreds of thousands of businessmen was drawn to The Land of Plenty by N. & W. advertisements.

We thought you'd want to know what is being done by the Norfolk and Western to help convert the many assets of this rich territory into more progress for all of us.

Six great states served by the Norfolk and Western Railway comprise the Land of Plenty—Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, North Carolina, Maryland and Kentucky — all offer essential advantages for industrial and agricultural development.
